Communicating With Your Inmate

- Not every correctional facility allows inmates and contacts to video visit, message, or call with CIDNET. After you’ve linked with your inmate, you can view what communication services they have access to.

- If you receive a call from (888) 984-1903, there is an inmate trying to call you. If you purchased data, you can accept the call. If you haven’t, you can’t accept the call.

- You can send/read messages by clicking the Mail button.
- You can schedule video visits by clicking Video and then New Schedule. Onsite visits require you to visit the facility, while Remote visits can be joined from anywhere as long as your WiFi connection is strong enough.
- Schedules you submit must be approved by facility staff.
- To join a Remote session, you need to login to CIDNET and click the Launch button when your session is scheduled to begin. The Launch button will appear automatically, though you may need to click Refresh.

- Video visits, messages, and phone calls are recorded and monitored. Staff may revoke your ability to communicate if you violate facility guidelines.
- If you want to sell your data back to CIDNET, click the Support button and open a New Request with I would like to sell back my unused data as your request.
